

Partnership and Affiliate Program Master Summary

Regenerative Revival. Internal reference, confidential. Items marked TBD are pending confirmation.

What this is

One place that captures every partnership and affiliate program we are running or planning, who owns each one, what products it covers, and how commissions work, plus the standard steps to set up any new partner. Use this as the master reference. The detailed agreement templates and the onboarding SOP are separate files.

A note on the owner overrides

As I understand the Reggie and Jared deals, the owner's percentage is in addition to the facility or gym percentage (additive), not carved out of it. If that is right, total commission on a Reggie standard stem cell sale is about 30% (10% facility plus 20% Reggie), the LA facility is about 30% (15% plus 15%), a Jared gym stem cell sale is about 35% (15% gym plus 20% Jared), and a Dr. Travis sale is 30%. Please confirm, because if any of these are inclusive instead of additive, the real cost changes a lot.

Which agreement to use

Each deal maps to one of the templates below. Pick the template, fill in Exhibit A for that partner, store the signed copy, and you are done. Rates always live in Exhibit A, so a change later is a new signed Exhibit, not a new contract.

Deal or program	Use this template	Notes
Reggie standard facilities (10%)	Referral Partner Agreement (Facility)	Set the facility rate to 10% in Exhibit A
Reggie LA facility (15%)	Referral Partner Agreement (Facility)	Set the rate to 15%, LA deal only
Jared gyms and facilities (15% stem)	Referral Partner Agreement (Facility)	Set the rate to 15%; name Jared as the rep
Reggie or Jared override (their own cut)	Business Development Representative Agreement	1099 contractor; set the override in Exhibit A
Standard peptide sales reps	Affiliate Partner Agreement (Peptide)	20% recurring; uses the 10% and 40% codes
Seth and Dr. Travis Johnson (30%, stem only)	Referral Partner Agreement (Licensed Provider)	Highest legal risk; get attorney review first
Seth and Dr. Bakko	Facility or Provider template (TBD)	Confirm once the rates are set next week
Dr. Dawn	Separate, to add	Structure not yet captured
New standard RR affiliate (influencers, creators)	Affiliate Partner Agreement: Stem Cell, Peptide, or Combined	Pick by what they promote

The full set: this master summary; three affiliate templates (stem cell, peptide, combined); two referral templates (facility and provider); the business development rep agreement; and the onboarding SOP. The setup flowchart shows the steps to take any new partner live.

Program details

Peptide program (Jared's sales rep program)

- Structure: monthly subscription. Reps share the program, the client signs up with the rep's code, and the rep earns recurring commission while the client stays active.
- Rep commission: 20% of the discounted sale price, per the program handout.
- Two codes per rep: a NAME10 code (10% off for clients, tracks the rep's sales) and a NAME40 code (40% off, the rep's personal use only, no commission).
- Payout: tracked from the 1st to the last day of each month, paid on or before the 15th of the following month. Example: June sales pay on July 15.
- Open question: you said Jared takes 15% on peptides, but the handout pays reps 20%. Confirm whether other reps get 20% while Jared personally takes 15%.

Stem cell deals (Reggie, Jared, Seth)

- Reggie's facilities: most at 10% to the facility with Reggie taking 20%; his one LA facility at 15% to the facility with Reggie taking 15% (LA deal only). None signed yet.
- Jared's gyms and facilities: 15% to the gym or facility, Jared takes 20%.
- Seth and Dr. Travis Johnson (chiropractor): 30% on stem cell sales only, no peptides. Handshake deal, nothing written yet, so this one needs a signed agreement to protect everyone.

- Seth and Dr. Bakko: on hold until next week for the commission numbers.
- Pricing: stem cell pricing varies by who is selling, which is fine. The attached 2026 price sheet (individual and seminar-bulk pricing by treatment area) is the reference you chose for now.

Dr. Dawn's program

Tracked here for visibility at your request. This is a separate deal and the commission structure is not yet captured. Send it over and the full detail will be folded into this summary.

Recommended standard RR affiliate program (new)

This is the open program anyone can sign up for, including social influencers and creators. Recommended starting point, grounded in current affiliate benchmarks and your existing framework:

- Stem cells: 10% of the collected treatment price, paid after the treatment is completed and paid in full. This matches your existing 10% a la carte rate and sits below your strategic partner deals, since those partners provide the treatment setting and clinical trust while a social affiliate drives a referral. To control cost on the highest-ticket treatments, you can use a flat bounty instead, for example $500 per completed treatment, which also carries lower legal risk.
- Peptides: 15% of the collected (discounted) sale, recurring monthly while the client stays active, capped at 12 months. This is within the normal subscription range and just under your 20% active-rep rate. You can set it to 20% to match the rep program exactly if you prefer one number across the board.
- Payment terms: Net 30 from the date the treatment is completed and paid (or the monthly peptide order clears), batched monthly, with a clawback for refunds and chargebacks. Net 30 is safer than Net 10 for high-ticket medical because it gives time to confirm the treatment happened, payment cleared, and the refund window passed before you pay out.
- Required on all promotion: a unique Everflow link or code, a clear paid-partnership disclosure (#ad), candidacy disclaimers, approved materials only, and no medical claims.

Compliance flag (please read)

Paying a percentage commission tied to a completed medical treatment is the structure that draws the most legal scrutiny in healthcare. Several states' fee-splitting and patient-brokering laws, and the federal Anti-Kickback Statute where any government-program dollars are involved, restrict or prohibit paying non-licensed people a share of patient fees for referrals, even for cash-pay, and percentage referral structures have been prosecuted. Because RR operates across 50 states, the rules vary by where the patient and provider are. This is not a reason to scrap the program, since many cash-pay wellness companies run affiliate programs, but it is a strong reason to (1) have a healthcare-specific attorney review the commission model before signing or launching, (2) consider whether a flat fair-market-value marketing fee is safer than a percentage of the treatment price, and (3) sign affiliates through your marketing or management entity rather than the medical practice. The agreement templates include protective language, but this is a starting point for your counsel and is not legal advice.

Open items to confirm

1. Override math: additive or inclusive for Reggie and Jared (see the note above).

2. Standard peptide rep rate: 20% (handout) versus 15% (Jared's personal take).
3. Dr. Bakko commission numbers (next week).
4. Dr. Dawn program structure, to complete this summary.
5. Final stem cell and peptide pricing for Everflow setup and rep math. The peptide menu shows Tirzepatide starting at $242 one-time, while Jared's example uses $379 per month; these need to reconcile.
6. Contracting legal entity and governing-law state for the agreements. The recommendation is to sign through the marketing or management entity; the state is left as a placeholder.
7. Approve the standard program numbers (10% stem, 15% peptide, Net 30) or share your preferred numbers.
